

Work better – Live better

Every day more and more people are enjoying the many benefits of working while standing. Numerous studies show that working from a sitting position for extended periods of time is clearly detrimental to your health. In fact in a recent study cited in the journal Medicine & Science in Sports & Exercise found that people who sit for most of the day were 54% more likely to die of heart attacks. This was a study of 17,000 people over a 13 year period. Men’s Health reports that this statistic is true even if the people in the study were nonsmokers and regular exercisers.

The ConSet line of electrical height adjustable desks gives you the power to transform how you live and work. Standing for portions of your day may be the simplest and most effective way to control weight gain, increase productivity and combat mental fatigue and back pain. A world of choices...

Your options are plentiful when choosing the ConSet desk which is right for you. The desk frame you choose depends on the required lifting capacity, size and function as well as the interior design.

The shape, size and surface material of the table top depend on the type of work performed at the table. Choose between:

- Rectangular table without curve
- Right- or left turned table
- U-form table
- Corner table
